

The 47th European Transport Conference
Annual Conference of the Association for European Transport
09-11 October 2019
Dublin Castle, Ireland

Call for Papers - Deadline 05 February 2019

Organised by the Association for European Transport (AET), the European Transport Conference connects the worlds of research, consultancy, policy and practice.

We now invite Abstract Submissions for the 2019 European Transport Conference. The following major themes will be addressed at the Conference in 2019 and contributors are particularly encouraged to offer abstracts under these headings:

- Big data – its use in, and implications for, network resilience, control centres, cities, climate change, emissions, mobility as a service, smart cities.
- System dynamics - representation of complex systems in modelling without detailed data.
- Climate change
- Aviation
- Autonomous vehicles - looking beyond the technology. What are the implications for accessibility, equity, traffic management, business models?

We also welcome papers that fit within our Programme Committee's areas of interest. The Programme Committees have also produced their own Calls for Papers which highlight specific areas of interest.

Details of the Programme Committees, instructions on how to submit a paper, and more information about the Conference, can be found at: www.aetransport.org

The deadline for receipt of abstracts is 05 February 2019
